

OUR DISTILLING JOURNEY

In the heart of Durras North, amidst the serene beauty of the South Coast, lies Durras Distillery. Our journey began with a simple vision: to craft a gin that encapsulates the essence of our unique coastal environment.

Inspired by the pristine waters, lush forests, and diverse wildlife of the region, we set out to produce a spirit that reflects the purity and character of Durras.

At the core of our distillery is a custom-built 120L copper still, where we meticulously distill our gin in nano-batches of just 75 bottles. This intimate scale allows us to pour our heart and soul into every drop, ensuring that each bottle tells a story of craftsmanship and passion. We aspire to range of gins that use local botanicals and provide delicate flavours. We love to experiment so we already have a unique bourbon mellowing in casks and plans underway for other boutique creations.

DURRAS
DISTILLERY

Durras Distillery is fully licenced and we pride ourselves on compliance, quality and having a low impact on the local environment and our local community. Sustainability is a key part of our production and packaging ethos. We do this by harnessing on site solar power, filtering rain water, rescuing citrus zest from a local juicing business, our alcohol base is from NSW sourced grain and we compost all used botanicals. We showcase our local south coast region with our labelling and use recycled packaging to the fullest degree that we can. It's important to us as distillers nestled deep in the Murrumbidgee National park.
